Innovative Programs and Practices Awards

The Innovative Programs and Practices Award honor individuals and their organizations for developing new programs and/or professional practices for university career services or for school system human resources offices. The award's objectives are to encourage innovative ideas and then to share them within the profession.

This award has been a part of the association for over 15 years; however, it is not granted each and every year. It is awarded only when the Awards Committee reviews nominations and determines that one or more of the programs are valuable and commendable within the professions of educational staffing.
